

Homework expectations for pupils and parents

Government and Politics

The Government and Politics Department supports the principles and guidelines contained within the Tring School Home Learning Policy.

At KS5 pupils can expect to get at least one past examination question every 4 weeks. In addition to the above there are also likely to be other occasional exercises such as independent research, note taking, presentation preparation etc.

There will also be set reading and exercises based on current and topical political issues. Furthermore, KS5 pupils are expected to keep abreast of the current political climate by reading a quality news paper, watching appropriate TV programmes such as the Newsnight, perusing topical political websites and/or reading journals/magazines. Newspapers and journals are available in the School's Learning Centre.
